LIQUOR DEALERS MEET. Convention of the State Association of Liquor Dealers Held Yesterday-Prominent Members Present-Officers of the

The annual convention of the Liquor Dealers' association of Connecticut was held in this city yesterday at Elks' hall on Chapel street. The meeting was called together at 10 o'clock by President James Sheridan of Bridgeport with about fifty delegates present. Among them were State Organizer P. H. Nolan of Port Jervis, N. Y.; the Pennsylvania state president, Richard Patterson of Philadelphia; New York state president, Daniel Holland, and R. J. Halle, the national secretary, of Chicago. Delegates were present from the fol-lowing associations: Ansonia, Bridge-South Norwalk, Naugatuck, Stamford, Hartford, Darbury, New Haven, Meriden, Wallingford, Rockville, Middletown, New Britain, Norwich, Southington, New London and Willimantic.

The association now numbers two thousand and the officers are: President, James Sheridan of Bridgeport: first vice president, M. J. Colloty of Waterbury; second vice president, Wm. Hennebery of Danbury; financial secretary, John A. Hurley of Meriden; recording secretary,

Samuel Munch of Waterbury. In the forenoon routine business was transacted and several matters of interest to the association were consider

To the Wine, Liquor and Beer Deal ers' association of the stae of Connecticut, in convention assembled, in the city of New Haven, the 20th day of Septem/ber, 1895: Whereas. The hotel bar and saloor exists because the public demands it, and because it is moulded and shaped by public sentiment and legislative enactments, and is, in our belief, as much the creature of circumstances as those who patronize it; and Whereas, We believe that if you onpress men they will retaliate and de- were heard. velop qualities opposed to public seretaliates and degenerates; and while Blaine and Fireman Johnson, the saloon remains an institution in The rest of the gang forced their way slety, a factor in the shaping of our ivilization, it seems, therefore, that its

Resolved. That we believe intemperance is degrading and injurious to the health, and that it destroys happiness, and we are in favor of the broadest plan of liberty necessary to the full enjoyment of personal rights being given to all classes, so long as the exercise of these rights is within the laws of our country and does not conflict with the rights of any particular class of per-We believe the course taken by certain persons who misunderstand the necessity for the existence of the licens. ed saloon, under the pretext of temperance, to be a dangerous one, and tending to undermine our free institutions and destroy the libertles guaranteed to all persons by the constitution and laws of the United States. We always advocate the liberties of American citizens in obedience to the laws of the country, as being applicable to all persons, with out regard to birth or nationality; and we believe that personal privileges are one thing and public duty another, without regard to politics, personal bias or prejudice of any kind.

Resolved. That we denounce monopolies of all kinds, and believe that they are, in effect, as dangerous to the liberties of our people as fanaticism, and have contributed largely to the depress ed condition of a number of our people, and have limited and restricted the laboring classes in the enjoyment of their rights. And we, therefore, declare ourselves ready to extend to these people a helping hand, and that we record ourselves in favor of supporting organized labor, and will give preference to union made goods. Resolved, That we emphatically denounce the toleration, for political or other purposes, of that disreputable class of persons known as the keepers of loosely conducted hotels, who propagate drunkenness and debauchery among the youth of the land, desecrate the Sabbath, and cast odium on the legitimate trade. We would, therefore ask that the municipal governments members of the law and order societies and temperance advocates, and all good citizens, unite with us in abolishing this alarming and gigantic evil.

Resolved, That we favor a just and equitable regulation of the liquor trade, upon such a basis as shall give to the dealer the same protection accorded to all citizens engaged in legitimate

Resolved, That we favor an organization that shall be in no sense politial, but yet declare it necessary to watch all political events with the greatest care. We believe that the political affiliation of our members should be left to the dictates of their enscience and conviction, and a politparty, whatever kind will never mest with our organized opposition, so long as it will not surrender to our enemies. Without preference, as an organized body, for either party, we believe in investigating the per sonnel of their respective candidates, supporting those whose careers and declarations show them to be in favor the twenty-fifth anniversary of the of a strict administration of all constitutional laws; and opposing all can didates, of whatever party, who cater to the prejudices of the intolerant or fanatical. Such discrimination is paricularly necessary in regard to candidates for the legislature.

Resolved, That we urge those engaged or interested in the liquor traffic to increased watchfulness. So far as our interests are concerned, the election of liberal members to the legislature is of paramount importance. We always have maintained, and we always will maintain, that a proper and a just regulation of the liquor traffic is demanded in the interest of good government and by a sound state policy; but we are, and always will be, equally determined in maintaining that the liquor business, when honorably and properly conducted, is as legitimate as any other manufacturing or commercial enterprise, and, when so conducted entitled to just protection by the laws and authorities of the state; that all unjust legal discrimination against our business is unrepublican, undemocratic and in plain violation of the spirit and principles of free government; and that all good and patriotic citizens, in helping to defend our business against olerant oppression, are merely rallying n defense of the cause of personal free dom and equal rights. Resolved, That we deplore the fact that certain social, beneficial and insurance organizations have seen fit to exclude from their membership those in the liquor traffic, and we denounce such action as an unwarrantable reflection upon thousands of honorable and lawabiding citizens.

Resolutions were also adopted endors ing the course of the president, the sec retary, and P. H. Nolan, the state or ganizer. The press and local busines men were heartily thanked for their hospitable treatment to the association while in the city.

I have been requested by one who knows me to send my recipe for those who are pestered with so-called water bugs, or roaches, as our grandmothers called them. I take equal parts of powdered sugar, and Rough on Rats and place a little where the pests rest or congregate. I had an untidy neighbor at one time, and her steady company made me an occasional visit. I used this, and have not been troubled with roaches for years. A. E. P.

TRAIN ROBBERS FAIL.

They Derailed an Engine, but Falled to Blow Open the Safe With Dynamite. Oshkosh, Wis., Sept. 20.-Word was eccived here late last night that the passenger train that left here at 7:40 clock had been held up by masked men near Waupaca, about forty miles north of this city, shortly after nine

A Fine Parade and Exercises at Schuetzer Park in Honor of King Victor Emman nel's Occupancy of Bome-An Orderly

Yesterday forenoon the Italians of this city held a parade in celebration of seizure of the Pontifical possessions by Victor Emmanuel, father of Humbert, present King of Italy.

The parade formed on State street soon after 10 a. m. and at 10:20 began to move, proceeding down State street to Crown, to Temple, to Elm, to Church, and past city hall, where Mayor Hendrick stood with head uncovered on the curbstone while the procession passed. The procession then marched into Chapel street, to State, to Grand avenue, Franklin, to Water, to Wallace, to State and then to Schuetzen park, where picnic was held in the afternoon.

The procession carried American flags and the Italian tri-color with its cross. The Meriden Protection society was the only society in uniform. men wore white trousers and red shirts a la Garibaldi.

La Concordia were white hats with blue feathers; the Fratellanza of Hartford were gold band caps, but the other rocessionists were decorated with small adges merely.

There were about four hundred men in the parade. Donato Vece was grand marshal. At the head of the procession were four patrolmen; then came Nico lari's band, which was followed by the Concordia society of this city, the Meriden Protection society, Pope's band of Hartford, the Fratellanza society of Hartford, the Fratallenza society of this city and the Mandamonta society. Lastcame carriages containing member of the Goldont club, invited guests and representatives of the three Italian papers in the city.

There was no disturbance during the parade, and the procession was fre quently applauded for its fine appear-
